Governor Kibbey left Richmond nearly twenty years ago and located in Phoenix, Arizona. Before that time, he was in law partnership with his father, the late Judge Kibbey, of the Wayne Circuit Court. In Arizona, the present Governor became Justice in the Supreme Court, was elected three times to the upper house in the legislature, practiced law, and until his present appointment, was Attorney General of the state. He knows of many Richmond people living in his territory. Among them are Elwood Hadley, Ed and Phil Wiggins, Will Grubbs and Charles Pogue. Governor Kibbey will address the Richmond Commercial Club on Wednesday evening, speaking of the great development of the west.
